"Start with the best, Stop with the best"

...Continues to be the driving force behind what we do at Hawg Halters. We strive to design and manufacture the best engineered products so you can get the maximum enjoyment out of your investment. We utilize the latest technologies in Solids based computer aided design and finite element analysis to perfect the product design. We select materials like aircraft grade 6061 billet aluminum custom made to our specifications and stainless steel alloys to produce the best performing products available. Extensive prototyping and testing is done to optimize the design so it will perform long into the future. Determining the most efficient manufacturing methods for each component is also one of our talents. With the use of Solids based computer aided manufacturing and CNC high speed machining centers we offer the best value for you. But the real key to all of this is quality and customer satisfaction. All of our products are manufactured to strict quality assurance guidelines. Parts go through detailed inspection using the most advanced computer controlled inspection technology providing precise measurements and unbeatable quality. We then take great pride in providing our polished, chromed and anodized parts finished to industry leading show quality standards. Everything is assembled by experienced craftsmen and sent through for final inspection to again insure proper operation for complete customer satisfaction. All that's left is packaging to ensure your parts arrive in perfect condition.
